BOMBER COMMAND MUSEUM OF CANADA
THE DAMBUSTERS

-75th ANNIVERSARY COMMEMORATION-

- The most daring and tactically demanding air operation of World War II, the legendary Dambusters Raid utilized a bouncing bomb released at an altitude of sixty feet to destroy enemy hydroelectric dams.
- This brilliant tactical success was achieved, but eight of the nineteen Lancaster bombers did not return. Of the 133 airmen who flew on the raid, 53 were killed and three became Prisoners of War.
- As with all aspects of Bomber Command, Canadians played a significant role in the Dams Raid. Of the thirty Canadians who flew, only fifteen returned.
